Agents of Revolution Peter Lead,1992 The Canal Builders Anthony Burton,2015-11-30 Canal Builders is a classic history book for anyone interested in the development of Britain's canal system The book which was first published in the 1970s is now republished here in a new fifth edition It takes the reader from the middle of the eighteenth century to the start of the railway age in the early nineteenth century Anthony Burton has revised and improved the original text using new material that he has found in archives since it was first published and has added many extra illustrations This is the remarkable story of the many groups of people who were responsible for building Britain's canal system There were industrialists such as Josiah Wedgwood who promoted canals to help his own industry and speculators financed the projects in the hope of a good return The work was planned by engineers some of whom such as James Brindley and Thomas Telford have become famous while others have remained virtually unknown but still did magnificent work This is also the story of the great anonymous army of men who actually did the work the navvies This was the first book ever to study the lives of these labourers in detail Altogether it is an epic story of how the transport route that made the industrial revolution possible was built Well planned and well written There is no better introduction to the early canal age The EconomistLinks End Links

McCahill,2023-01-26 What was the role of elected legislators Was it to represent the opinions of constituents or to vote according to their informed opinions reflecting the needs of the kingdom Most authorities have accepted Edmund Burke's depiction of 18th century MPs insisting it was their right to form their opinions without reference to the instructions of constituents This study provides answers to these important questions and in doing so reveals that Burke's vision does not represent how the House of Commons functioned during the last two decades of the 18th century Rather than focusing on specific issues or demographic groups English MPs brings to the fore the legislative activity of a broad segment of late 18th century English MPs This book shows they were diligent legislators who attended to the needs of constituents in the process developing strong connections with them It demonstrates that these connections did not rest on shared beliefs in reformist ideologies except in and around the metropolis Instead they grew out of the members' timely and effective tending session after session to the host of measures brought forward by constituents and neighbours McCahill explores in fascinating detail the consequences of this bond In this book McCahill draws from an impressive array of primary sources and secondary literature to combine a structural analysis with broad surveys and detailed case studies The result is an illuminating and a comprehensive account of the House of Commons between 1760 and 1790 The

A History of the County of Stafford Nigel J. Tringham,2013 Comprehensive and authoritative history of north west Staffordshire including Keele Trentham and Audley Covering the hilly north west part of the county from the Cheshire border to the valley of the river Trent south of Newcastle under Lyme this volume treats parishes that lie mostly on the North Staffordshire coalfield and where both coal and ironstone mining and iron making became important especially in the nineteenth century A rich archive has been used to illustrate the origins of this industrial activity in the Middle Ages when the area was characterised by scattered settlements with an important manorial complex and a grand fourteenth century church at Audley a hunting lodge for the Stafford lords at Madeley a small borough at Betley and at Keele and Trentham religioushouses which became landed estates with mansion houses after the Dissolution In the nineteenth century Trentham gained fame for its spectacular gardens created by the immensely rich dukes of Sutherland and Keele rose to prominence in 1950 as the site of Britain s first campus university After coalmining ceased in the twentieth century several villages and mining hamlets acquired large housing estates which in Trentham parish were absorbed into Stoke on Trent Nigel Tringham is a Senior Lecturer in History at Keele University with special responsibility for researching and writing the volumes of the Staffordshire Victoria County History
