

Agriculture Industry Feeling The Economic Instability :The Impact of COVID-19

This template covers the impact of coronavirus causing economic instability in agricultural sector such as The affected labour force in agricultural farms, raw material supply and Demand supply volatility

- Globally, the food and beverage industry is expected to experience the differential effect of this rapid spread of COVID-19 on each part of the value chain across the mediums of the affected industrial workforce, the availability of raw materials (agricultural goods, food ingredients, intermediate food items), trade & logistics, uncertainty in demand and volatile customer demand for food services.
- Production, distribution and inventory levels across the food & beverage spectrum should be affected.

Raw Material Supply: Agriculture & Livestock Industries

- Agricultural products, which form the main raw material for subsequent stages in the food supply chain, may become a possible source of food and beverage industry bottlenecks.
- Australia, which imports the necessary agrochemicals and crop defence products from China on a wide scale. China is home to a significant number of large-scale manufacturers representing around 35-50% of global agrochemical production.

Demand supply Volatility: Food Manufacturers, Processors, Food Retail & Service Outlets

- While food and beverage manufacturers and processors are more likely to be affected by the labour and raw material shortage required in the production process.
- For food stores, the challenge would be to address the possibility of consumers having an irregular buying and, in contrast, also to assess the possibility of stockpiling food & beverage products to ensure continuity of consumer access to the products they intend to buy.

Workforce

- The affected labour force in agricultural farms, food & beverage production & processing plants, and supply chain are analysed to face the risk of supporting the COVID-19 outbreak, the communication of which may occur during various coordination activities.
