A Sustainable Future for the Mediterranean
Guillaume Benoit, Aline Comeau, 2012-08-21 Here's a work arriving just at the right moment and contributing new insights at precisely the time when public opinion remains sceptical of the not very promising future we are preparing for our children when governments balk at explaining to their electorates the vital but unpopular decisions that have to be taken and when civil society with few ways and means is finally becoming involved This remarkable work will help all actors to understand the inter linkages between economic activities and the environment in the Mediterranean Basin and take concerted effective action to build a positive sustainable future Mohamed Ennabli former Minister of the Environment and Land Use Planning Tunisia The Blue Plan has carried out a remarkable assessment of the serious environmental problems and insufficiently targeted cooperation in the Mediterranean and also of new financing systems to be implemented which would increase the capacities of local authorities and economic and social partners Georges Corm former Minister of Finance Lebanon The Mediterranean Basin and its surrounding countries is a microcosm of the environmental and sustainability challenges facing people across the world Depending on the development path it takes in the future the region can either become a positive model for the regional regulation of globalization or more onerously it might reinforce global instability This unique volume is the definitive authoritative assessment of the environment and development of the Mediterranean Basin and its 22 countries and territories spanning five decades from 30 years in the past to 20 years into the future Produced by the Blue Plan within the framework of UNEP Mediterranean Action Plan and backed by the EU and national governments it brings together the work of more than 100 researchers from dozens of national regional and local governments and research groups into the only comprehensive insight into sustainable development issues in the region Core coverage includes water energy transport cities rural and coastal areas as well as related issues such as climate change population growth geopolitical changes unemployment and poverty pollution economic and environmental policies regional cooperation and the Euro Mediterranean Partnership Information is clearly presented through hundreds of full colour maps graphs tables and a wealth of case studies This is a must have reference for all levels of government NGOs and libraries as well as practitioners academics and businesses involved in economics natural resource management land and maritime transport water energy infrastructure urban and rural development agriculture fishing and aquaculture tourism and coastal management Countries and territories covered Spain France Italy Monaco Malta Cyprus Slovenia Croatia Bosnia Herzegovina Serbia and Montenegro Albania Greece Turkey Syria Lebanon Palestinian Territories Israel Egypt Libya Tunisia Algeria and Morocco Preface by Lucien

Chabason Chairman of the Blue Plan Annual Energy Outlook 2010, with Projections To 2035 ,2010-06-09 Where the Wind Blows Us unites critical practice with a community based approach to archaeology Author Natasha Lyons describes an inclusive archaeology that rests on a flexible but rigorous approach to research design and demonstrates a responsible ethical practice She traces the rise and application of community archaeologies develops a wide ranging set of methods for community practice and maps out a localized critical theory that is suited to the needs of local and descendant communities as they pursue self defined heritage goals Localized critical theory aims to decenter the focus on global processes of capitalism in favor of the local processes of community dynamics Where the Wind Blows Us emphasizes the role of individuals and the relationships they share with communities of the past and present Lyons offers an extended case study of her work with the Inuvialuit community of the Canadian Western Arctic She documents the development of this longstanding research relationship and presents both the theoretical and practical products of the work to date Integrating knowledge drawn from archaeology ethnography oral history and community interviews Lyons utilizes a multivocal approach that actively listens to Inuvialuit speak about their rich and textured history The overall significance of this volume lies in outlining a method of practicing archaeology that embraces local ways of knowing with a critically constructed and evolving methodology that is responsive to community needs It will serve as a handbook to mine for elements of critical practice a model of community based archaeology and a useful set of concepts and examples for classroom study Advances in Clean Energy Systems and Technologies Lin Chen,2024-02-22 This book presents the latest developments and innovations in clean energy engineering It offers case studies on advances in clean energy technology evaluates sustainable methods for increasing energy efficiency and examines current concepts and solutions to global energy storage and energy saving issues Topics covered include clean coal fossil field green energy engineering and technology including solar biomass wind nuclear energy efficiency power cycles and hydrogen equipment Advances in Clean Energy Systems and Technologies is an essential guide to current research for scientists practitioners engineers students and researchers in clean energy systems and technologies Electricity Auctions Luiz Maurer,Luiz Barroso,2011-07-25 Electricity contract auctions have been getting increased attention as they have emerged as a successful mechanism to procure new generation capacity and This book presents a comprehensive overview of international experiences in auction design and implementation Biomass and Agriculture Sustainability, Markets and Policies OECD,2004-09-06 The 21st century could see the switch from the fossil fuel to the biological based economy Papers presented in this conference proceedings explore the questions involved Sustainable Energy D.
