The Comforts of Home in Western Europe, 1700-1900 Jon Stobart, 2020-02-20 Comfort both physical and affective is a key aspect in our conceptualization of the home as a place of emotional attachment yet its study remains under developed in the context of the European house In this volume Jon Stobart has assembled an international cast of contributors to discuss the ways in which architectural and spatial innovations coupled with the emotional assemblage of objects to create comfortable homes in early modern Europe The book features a two section structure focusing on the historiography of architectural and spatial innovations and material culture in the early modern home It also includes 10 case studies which draw on specific examples from water closets in Georgian Dublin to wallpapers in 19th century Cambridge to illustrate how people made use of and responded to the technological improvements and the emotional assemblage of objects which made the home comfortable In addition it explores the role of memory and memorialisation in the domestic space and the extent to which home comforts could be carried about by travellers or reproduced in places far removed from the home The Comforts of Home in Western Europe 1700 1900 offers a fresh contribution to the study of comfort in the early modern home and will be vital reading for academics and students interested in early modern history material culture and the history of interior architecture

One for All Russell Hardin, 1997-08-29 In a book that challenges the most widely held ideas of why individuals engage in collective conflict Russell Hardin offers a timely crucial explanation of group action in its most destructive forms Contrary to those observers who attribute group violence to irrationality primordial instinct or complex psychology Hardin uncovers a systematic exploitation of self interest in the underpinnings of group identification and collective violence Using examples from Mafia vendettas to ethnic violence in places such as Bosnia and Rwanda he describes the social and economic circumstances that set this violence into motion Hardin explains why hatred alone does not necessarily start wars but how leaders cultivate it to mobilize their people He also reveals the thinking behind the preemptive strikes that contribute to much of the violence between groups identifies the dangers of particularist communitarianism and argues for government structures to prevent any ethnic or other group from having too much sway Exploring conflict between groups such as Serbs and Croats Hutu and Tutsi Northern Irish Catholics and Protestants Hardin vividly illustrates the danger that arises when individual and group interests merge In these examples groups of people have been governed by movements that managed to reflect their members personal interests mainly by striving for political and economic advances at the expense of other groups and by closing themselves off from society at large The author concludes that we make a better and safer world if we design our social institutions to facilitate individual efforts to achieve personal goals than if we concentrate on the ethnic political makeup of our respective societies Fourth Estate ,1896 Country Life ,1909 Journal of the Medical Society of New Jersey Medical Society of New Jersey,1928 Includes the society's Annual reports New York Theatre Critics' Reviews ,1942 Theatre critics reviews brings you the complete reviews from these New York publications and stations whenever covered by the critic New York daily news Wall Street journal Time New York post Women s wear daily WABC TV CBS TV New York times Christian Science monitor Newsweek Sovereign Lives Jenny Edkins,Michael J. Shapiro,Veronique Pin-Fat,2012-10-02 For International Relations scholars discussions of globalization inevitably turn to questions of sovereignty How much control does a country have over its borders people and economy Where does that authority come from Sovereign Lives explores these changes through reading of humanitarian intervention human rights discourses securitization refugees the fragmentation of identities and the practices of development

The Comforts of Home Merritt Ierley,1999 The Age of Technology is nowhere made more personal than at home Modern convenience shapes our daily routine making today's American house a place of comfort the like of which has never been known Yet of all aspects of modern technology it is the evolution of what is in the household that has been least written about In The Comforts of Home an unprecedented work written for a general audience with no particular knowledge of science or technology social historian Merritt Ierley weaves in aspects of architecture social history and technology to present an underexplored but central feature of American cultural identity how our lives are shaped by the domestic technology around us Here we see a simple brick cubicle with a stove inside it evolve into central heating a barrel with a large handle become the automatic washing machine a box lined with charcoal birth the modern refrigerator and the modern toilet develop from a rudimentary stone trough The Comforts of Home charts the evolution of mechanical systems from central heating to lighting from kitchen to bathroom from washing machine to vacuum cleaner on which we all depend and without which most of us could hardly imagine surviving It is also the story of the people responsible for the revolution of convenience in the home people like Benjamin Thompson Count Rumford a British Loyalist inventor and spy who fled his home in the American colonies in 1776 His genius of invention returned in the form of inventions with practical impact on everyday life in the household Or like architects Benjamin Latrobe and James Gallier Jr who defined the cutting edge of modern convenience for their times The Comforts of Home is also the story of ordinary people like David and Ida Eisenhower who provided their son Dwight and his brothers with a home that increased in comfort the way most American homes did bit by bit appliance by appliance advance by advance as new technology became cheaper and more widespread and more a part of everyday life The story of the convenience of modern living is compellingly traced in this delightfully written book illustrated with nearly 200 photographs and vintage illustrations Front and back illustrations c 1892 show a Standard Gas Machine apparatus that was used for supplying one's own home with illuminating gas in the age of gaslight courtesy of Smithsonian Institution Inset shows delivery of a 1960s automatic Ice Maker refrigerator courtesy of Whirlpool Corporation From the Hardcover edition
