Improving Writing and Thinking Through Assessment Teresa L. Flateby, 2010-06-01 Improving Writing and Thinking through Assessment is designed to help individual faculty and administrators select assessment approaches and measures to maximize their students writing and thinking The book offers useful guidance through presentation of recommended assessment guidelines and measurement principles in Part 1 and applications from a variety of contributors in Part 2 It addresses a wide range of audiences including instructors who want to assess and thus foster writing and thinking in their courses administrators and instructors planning to assess writing and thinking at the program or institutional level and graduate students interested in improving students writing and critical thinking This book is more guide than a cookbook By providing comprehensive standards and criteria that help individuals or teams develop plans and measures to improve writing and thinking the book should be helpful for academic and Student Affairs administrators and faculty as the principles apply equally to all engaged in assessment Contributors representing a wide range of educators illustrate many of the approaches and methods described in the theoretical section of the book using a variety of assessment strategies at both classroom and program levels Readers will see how different types of institutions both private and public as well as undergraduate and graduate have designed assessment strategies and plans to gauge and enhance writing and thinking growth in the classroom and across programs They candidly describe challenges encountered and solutions they adopted or suggest These chapters reflect approaches and perspectives from various discourse communities including writing program administrators composition faculty assessment professionals and individual faculty representing several disciplines The author argues the urgent need to develop strong writers and thinkers She discusses challenges and obstacles but underscores the necessity for more faculty involvement and institutional commitment This book will help institutions and individual faculty design and implement sound meaningful assessment strategies to foster effective writing and thinking that will both advance the goals of the institutional mission and meet faculty s disciplinary objectives and scholarly concerns

The Nurse Educator's Guide to Assessing Learning Outcomes McDonald, 2007-03-07 The new edition of this award winning text helps address the increased pressure that the NCLEX and other certification exams are placing on nursing students and faculty The Nurse Educator s Guide to Assessing Learning Outcomes 2nd Edition guides classroom educators through the process of developing effective classroom exams and individual test items

Assessing and Improving Student Writing in College Barbara E. Walvoord, 2014-07-07 Step by step guidance for shaping better writers while keeping faculty workloads manageable Effective communication is a critical skill for many academic disciplines and careers and so colleges and universities and their faculty members are rightfully committed to improving student writing across the curriculum Guiding and assessing student writing in classrooms general education and departments takes knowledge planning and persistence but it can be done effectively and efficiently Written in the concise accessible style Barbara Walvoord is known for Assessing and Improving Student Writing in College A Guide for Institutions General Education Departments and Classrooms offers administrators program chairs general education leaders and classroom instructors the guidance they need The book provides concrete suggestions for how to Articulate goals for student writing Measure student writing Improve student writing Document that improvement The book begins by addressing four basic concepts what we mean by writing what we mean by good writing how students learn to write and the purposes of assessment Next Walvoord explains the various approaches and methods for assessing writing urging a combination of them adapted to the institution s purposes and political context After this introduction successive chapters offer realistic practical advice to institution wide and general education leaders department members and classroom instructors Walvoord addresses issues such as how to engage faculty how to use rubrics how to aggregate assessment information at the department and institutional levels and how to report assessment information to accreditors The chapter for classroom instructors offers practical suggestions how to add more writing to a course without substantially increasing the grading load how to construct writing assignments how to make grading and responding more effective and time efficient how to address grammar and punctuation and how to support students whose native language is not English The book also includes four helpful appendices a taxonomy of Writing Across the Curriculum WAC and Writing in the Disciplines WID programs sample outlines for faculty development workshops a student survey on teaching methods instructors can use to inform their choices in the classroom and a student self check cover sheet designed to help students take ownership of their own learning and responsibility for turning in complete correct assignments Practical step by step guidance for each point in the assessment and improvement process creates a cohesive institution wide system that keeps students faculty and administrators on the same page

Reconstructing Response to Student Writing Dan Melzer, 2023-08-07 In Reconstructing Response to Student Writing Dan Melzer makes the argument that writing instructors should shift the construct so that peer response and student self assessment are more central than teacher response Presenting the results of a national study of teacher and peer response and student self assessment at institutions of higher education across the United States Melzer analyzes teacher and peer response to over 1 000 pieces of student writing as well as 128 student portfolio reflection essays He draws on his analysis and on a comprehensive review of the literature on response to introduce a constructivist heuristic for response aimed at both composition instructors and instructors across disciplines Melzer argues that teachers and researchers should focus less on teacher response to individual pieces of student writing and more on engaging in dialogue with student self assessment and peer response focusing on growth and transfer rather than products and grades Reconstructing Response to Student Writing especially when taken together with Melzer's previous book Assignments across the Curriculum provides a comprehensive and large scale view of college writing and responding across the curriculum in the United States

Academic Writing and Information Literacy Instruction in Digital Environments Tamilla Mammadova, 2023-01-01 This book offers an interdisciplinary approach to the teaching of academic writing and information literacy in a new digital dimension drawing on recent trends towards project based writing digital writing and multimodal writing in Education and synthesising theory with practice to provide a handy toolkit for teachers and researchers The author combines a practical orientation to teaching academic writing and information literacy with a grounding in current theories of writing instruction in the digitalized era and argue that as digital environments become more universal in modern society particularly in the aftermath of the coronavirus pandemic the lines between traditional academic writing and multi modal digital writing must necessary become blurred This book will be of use to teachers and instructors of academic writing and information literacy particularly within the context of English for Academic Purposes EAP as well as students and researchers in Applied Linguistics Pedagogy and Digital Writing
