East Asian Voices of Resistance Against Racism in Music Ken Ueno, Maiko Kawabata, 2025-03-18 The negative racialization of East Asian musicians in Western classical music manifests through tropes of othering such as Yellow Peril Orientalism and various harmful stereotypes This volume centers East Asian voices in collaboration with our allies as narrators of our own racialized experiences in music Featuring eleven contributions in a mixture of tone that is academic and personal or reflective thus deliberately disrupting conventional linguistic norms the volume brings together our voices in a creative act of resistance against racism in music and in solidarity with activism that targets inequalities in the arts more broadly The volume is to our knowledge the first of its kind Intended for musicians and artists academics and students it will dynamize topical conversations circling around issues of equality diversity and inclusion so as to contribute towards positive change

Afro-asian Voices Melchora D. Bilgera, 1993 Backlash: South Asian Immigrant Voices on the Margins Rita Verma, 2019-02-11 This book presents yet another compelling argument about the lives and struggles of new immigrant youth in public schools and demands the attention of educators policy makers and academics In the post September 11th political economic and social climate there are silenced and forgotten young immigrants in our schools Racist nativism Islamophobia and hegemonic discourse have in many ways legitimized the false information and emerging stereotypes that are disseminated by popular culture and the media From the perspective of working class Sikh youth who have unduly borne the brunt of such hostility and racial profiling we learn about their daily lives both in their communities and schools The youth engaged in identity politics and occupied contradictory hybrid spaces of being neither here nor there Attempts to transplant religious identities led to personal battles of self definition and transformation In contrast to the available literature on the Asian American model minority Verma explores the working class experience of South Asian families who face downward economic mobility limited opportunities low academic achievement racism and marginalization from both their communities and the mainstream public Hidden under the umbrella of the model minority stereotype the needs of working class South Asian youth are largely compromised as their engagement from school plummets In the midst of shifting politics of belonging citizenship and nation building the reader is drawn to listen to the personal stories hopes and dreams of youth who face uncertain realities and doubts about the grandeur of the American dream Asian Voices, 1993 Voices of Asian Americans in Higher Education Festus E. Obiakor, Ying Hui-Michael, 2018-10-01 Voices of Asian Americans in Higher Education Unheard Voices is a unique and historical book Asian Americans are often portrayed as model minority yet their personal and educational experiences are often unheard In this book 10 Asian American educators and scholars present realistic pictures of America's higher education using personal narratives The contributors in this book come from different regions and teach in different colleges and universities and coincidentally they all endure the outsider category formerly as students and now as professors and leaders This outsider status can be emotionally overwhelming and psychologically unnerving This status hampers opportunities for Asian Americans to grow and maximize their fullest potential Though they develop different strategies to address their outsider label it does not make it comfortable But time and time again they have proven that they can succeed In this technological age we must value unending truths as we educate ourselves and others We hope that this book will be an educational and informational resource for students administrators and faculty in higher education and also educational policy makers and stakeholders The East Asian Challenge for Human Rights Joanne R. Bauer, Daniel A. Bell, 1999-02-13 The East Asian Challenge for Human Rights shows that critical intellectuals in East Asia have begun to chart a middle ground between the extremes of the international debate on human rights making particular headway in the areas of group rights and economic social and cultural ethnic minority rights The chapters form a collective intellectual inquiry into the following areas critical perspectives on the Asian values debate theoretical proposals for an improved international human rights regime with greater input from East Asians the resources within East Asian cultural traditions that can help promote human rights and key human rights issues facing East Asia as a result of rapid economic growth in the region International Environmental Law and Asian Values Roda Mushkat, 2004 Following decades of vigorous economic expansion Asia is confronting the environmental consequences of unfettered development This poses a challenge because of the strong bias of prevailing cultural systems in the region toward the goal of lifting standards of living over achieving ecological sustainability This book juxtaposes international environmental norms and practices with relevant Asian policies and their applications in key areas Roda Mushkat examines the fundamental principle of public participation in environmental law making as well as the rights approach against the emergence of democratic and human rights norms in the region The complex relationship between trade and the environment is also discussed in light of the strong regional emphasis on economic growth trade liberalization and the aversion to conditionalities Given regionalization processes in Asia Pacific and elsewhere this work seeks to establish to what extent such processes have led to the regionalization of international environmental law International Environmental Law and Asian Values concludes that although some gaps can be identified between international imperatives and regional responses Asian values have not proved to be an insurmountable barrier to the spread of international environmental legal ideas On the whole the region is responding to impulses emanating from the global arena rather than resisting them consciously The analysis and conclusions of this comprehensive and original work will be of considerable interest to scholars of international law and relations environmental policy comparative culture economic development and social change Television's Streaming Wars Arianne Ferchaud, Jennifer M. Proffitt, 2023-11-03 This volume addresses contemporary debates and trends regarding the production and distribution content and audience engagement with the television streaming industry The book interrogates the economics and structure of the industry questions the types and diversity of content perpetuated on streaming services and addresses how audiences engage with content from US and global perspectives and within various research paradigms Chapters address the television streaming wars including the debates and trends in terms of its production and competition diversity and growth of programming and audience consumption focusing on multiple platforms content and users This timely and creative volume will interest students and scholars working in television studies media industry studies popular culture studies audience studies media psychology critical cultural studies and media economics
