Pearson, 2019 Critical periods of perceptual development occur during the elementary and middle school years Vision plays a major role in this development The use of child development knowledge of Bruner Skinner Piaget and Inhelder coupled with the artistic thinking theories of Goldschmidt Marshall and Williams through and the lens of James J Gibson and his ex wife Eleanor J framed the study Sixteen 8-10 year olds over eight one hour weekly meetings focused on how they see and learn how to draw The study demonstrated that the perception of the participants followed the development of the visual pathway as described in empirical neural studies Salient features presented themselves first and then over time details such as space texture and finally depth can be learned over many years of development The eye muscles need to build stamina through guided lessons that provide practice as well as a finished product It was more important to focus on the variety of qualities of line shape and space and strategy building through solution finding and goal setting Perceptual development indicators of how 8-10 year old elementary students see and understand images will be heard from their voices The results indicated that practice exercises helped participants build stamina that directly related to their ability to persist in drawing The findings have shown that the development of the 8-10 year olds visual pathway was found at the global lower level visual field of V1 and V2 where the processes of orientation of direction sensitive retinal cells are still processing salient features Author's abstract Teaching with the Brain in Mind Eric Jensen, 1998 RESEARCH ON HOW THE BRAIN LEARNS ART and the MIND - Ernst H. GOMBRICH Sybille Moser-Ernst, 2018-02-19 Ernst H Gombrich the Art Historian master of both Continental thought and English language became one of the world's most well known representatives of the discipline Half a century ago his testable theories transformed thinking on how to look at art After only a few years during which semiotics appeared to render Sir Ernst's common sense framework outdated the rise of cognitive approaches has enabled him to recover internationally the status he once had in France as a radical thinker within modern philosophy This book explores Gombrich's intellectual legacy by analysing some of the concepts and insights in the context of Image Science the Steckenpferd The international contributors are original authorities in their own right among them some of Gombrich's former students Aesthetics and the Embodied Mind: Beyond Art Theory and the Cartesian Mind-Body

Dichotomy Alfonsina Scarinzi, 2014-11-24 The project of naturalizing human consciousness experience has made great technical strides e g in mapping areas of brain activity but has been hampered in many cases by its uncritical reliance on a dualistic Cartesian paradigm though as some of the authors in the collection point out assumptions drawn from Plato and from Kant also play a role The present volume proposes a version of naturalism in aesthetics drawn from American pragmatism above all from Dewey but also from James and Peirce one primed from the start to see human beings not only as embodied but as inseparable from the environment they interact with and provides a forum for authors from diverse disciplines to address specific scientific and philosophical issues within the anti dualistic framework considering aesthetic experience as a process of embodied meaning making Cross disciplinary contributions come from leading researchers including Mark Johnson Jim Garrison Daniel D Hutto John T Haworth Luca F Ticini Beatriz Calvo Merino The volume covers pragmatist aesthetics neuroaesthetics enactive cognitive science literary studies psychology of aesthetics art and design sociology

Art and the Brain Amy Ione, 2016-10-11 In her new book Art and the Brain Plasticity Embodiment and the Unclosed Circle Amy Ione offers a profound assessment of our ever evolving view of the biological brain as it pertains to embodied human experience She deftly takes the reader from Deep History into our current worldview by surveying the range of nascent responses to perception thoughts and feelings that have bred paradigmatic changes and led to contemporary research modalities Interweaving carefully chosen illustrations with the emerging ideas of brain function that define various time periods reinforces a multidisciplinary framework connecting neurological research theories of mind art investigations and intergenerational cultural practices The book will serve as a foundation for future investigations of neuroscience art and the humanities
