Asias New High Tech Competitors:

Asia's New High Tech Competitors Lawrence M. Rausch, 1997-11 Decades of market success in general manufactures gave Japan the revenues and rationale for even larger investments in education and in R D These investments in turn propelled that country s entry into technology areas previously dominated by the West Today several other Asian economies are exhibiting similar patterns of industrialization Asia now boasts several economies that are active if not prominent suppliers of a growing number of high tech products in the global marketplace This report profiles 9 economies linked by an Asian identity yet marked by economic and technological disparity Frontiers ,1995 Conflict and Cooperation in National Competition for High-Technology Industry National Research Council, Kiel Institute for World Economics, Hamburg Institute for Economic Research, Board on Science, Technology, and Economic Policy, 1996-11-15 This unique volume contains a powerful set of recommendations on issues at the center of international discussions on investment trade and technology policy They take into account the globalization of industrial activity and the special characteristics of high technology industries while recognizing the continued policy role of national governments The book identifies the rationale for promotional measures for high technology industries delineates sources of friction among the leading industrial countries and proposes policies to enhance international cooperation and strengthen the multilateral trading regime This volume also examines the factors driving collaboration among otherwise competing firms and national programs highlights the need to develop principles of equitable public and private international cooperation and emphasizes the linkage between investment government procurement and other trade policies and prospects for enhanced international cooperation The Virtuous Vice Siamack Shojai, Robert Christopherson, 2004-05-30 Globalization is both a virtue and a vice On balance it is beneficial to individuals communities nations and the world economy It facilitates the movement of goods and services people financial capital and ideas Overall it creates wealth Globalization does have vices however cultural clashes environmental degradation and displaced workers among them The contributors to this volume contend that the give and play between the positive and negative sides of globalization will eventually result in a smoother and more equitable process The Necessary Nature of Future Firms George P. Huber, 2004 Click Additional Materials for downloadable sample chapter George Huber makes an important contribution with profound insights on what the future firm will look like It will be congruent with its environment To realize opportunities from continuing advances in science and technology and environmental complexity the successful firm in the future will be especially good at gaining environmental intelligence learning and integrating knowledge and being innovative and flexible This is not a fanciful prophesy it is a necessary logical conclusion that Huber draws from an extensive body of scientific knowledge Andrew H Van de Ven University of Minnesota Past President of the Academy of Management and coauthor of Organizational Change and Innovation Processes Huber gives a compelling account of the future landscape that many managers have to face today Filled with solid academic research laced with real world examples Huber not only conveys the shape of that landscape but also the roadmap to navigate it Kathleen M Eisenhardt Stanford University and coauthor of Competing on the Edge Strategy as Structured Chaos This is an important book for any manager who faces a rapidly changing and increasingly competitive environment which is to say virtually every manager Huber makes a cogent case for the fact that businesses will face much more dynamic and competitive environments in the future than they face today More importantly he offers practical advice for how managers can prepare for the uncertain future they face Clearly written and carefully grounded in the best research evidence available this book stands head and shoulders above the many management books offering short term fads fashions and therapies of the moment Richard T Mowday University of Oregon former President of the Academy of Management and former Editor of the Academy of Management Journal Click Reviews to read more pre publication praise for The Necessary Nature of Future Firms Survival depends on the ability to read imminent shifts in the environment and respond accordingly This holds true for any living system but it is especially true for firms today The business environment is now changing rapidly but will change even more rapidly in the future Only firms that can respond to these changes will survive It is important to know then how business s future landscape will look George Huber s new book The Necessary Nature of Future Firms describes this landscape clearly and credibly and makes explicit the organizational attributes and management practices firms must possess to be among the ranks of the future firms Advances in science and technology will continue to affect business environments making them more complex dynamic and competitive Moreover this complexity and dynamism will increase at increasing rates As the book makes clear successful firms will cope with or exploit these changes by increasing their capabilities for correctly interpreting threats and opportunities making decisions acquiring and managing knowledge innovating and changing while simultaneously dealing with the needs for efficiency flexibility and employee commitment The Necessary Nature of Future Firms is written for managers especially those managing change Professionals in a wide variety of organizational roles will find it a particularly useful reference for its foresight and as an invaluable tool in winning approval for projects and initiatives Academics in change management information systems organizational science strategy and human resources management can draw on the book as a supplementary text or as a source for lecture materials References housed in endnotes rather than in the text contribute to the book s readability and ease of use as does the accessible writing style But for all its accessibility and reader friendliness The Necessary Nature of Future Firms is still firmly grounded in scholarship Hundreds of authoritative works and systematic studies specifically inform this book as do Huber s own studies and his interviews with over 100 middle and upper level managers about changes in their organizations To add meaning and interest the book s insights and conclusions are elaborated with real world examples Conflict and Cooperation in National Competition for High-Technology Industry Board on Science, Technology, and Economic Policy, Hamburg Institute for Economic Research, Kiel Institute for World Economics, National Research Council, 1996-10-29

This unique volume contains a powerful set of recommendations on issues at the center of international discussions on investment trade and technology policy. They take into account the globalization of industrial activity and the special characteristics of high technology industries while recognizing the continued policy role of national governments. The book identifies the rationale for promotional measures for high technology industries, delineates sources of friction among the leading industrial countries and proposes policies to enhance international cooperation and strengthen the multilateral trading regime. This volume also examines the factors driving collaboration among otherwise competing firms and national programs, highlights the need to develop principles of equitable public and private international cooperation and emphasizes the linkage between investment, government procurement and other trade policies and prospects for enhanced international cooperation.

Securing the Future National Research Council, Policy and Global Affairs, Board on Science, Technology, and Economic Policy, 2003-06-08. Based on the deliberations of a high level international conference, this report summarizes the presentations of an exceptional group of experts convened by Intel's Chairman Emeritus Gordon Moore and SEMATECH's Chairman Emeritus William Spencer. The report documents the critical technological challenges facing this key industry and the rapid growth in government industry partnerships overseas to support centers of semiconductor research and production in national economies. Importantly, the report provides a series of recommendations designed to strengthen U.S. research in disciplines supporting the continued growth of semiconductor industry, an industry which has made major contributions to the remarkable increases in productivity in the U.S. economy.

Technology Application in Tourism in Asia Azizul Hassan, 2022-03-02. This book very specifically focuses on technology application in tourism in Asia. The book contains twenty-seven chapters in four sections: i.e. theories, innovations, practices and future research directions based on the intriguing qualities and importance of technology applications in the Asian tourism business. This book is a blend of comprehensive and extensive efforts by the contributors and editor, designed to extensively cover technology applications in tourism in Asia, including distinct topics such as mobile computing, new product designs, innovative technology usages in tourism promotion, technology-driven sustainable tourism development, location-based apps, mobility, accessibility, the post-crisis situation of COVID-19, etc. This book is a significant contribution towards the very limited knowledge of technology applications in tourism, with selected examples of Asian countries. The importance of technology in Asian tourism is rapidly increasing and has led to a rise in luxury, allowing citizens to enjoy leisure travel over both long and short distances. The rise of low-cost airlines and the region's growing affluent middle class have changed the tourism environment dramatically. More tourists are booking their holidays online as a result of technological advancements. Online travel is the most important and well-established aspect of Asia's Internet economy. Considering the ongoing trend of technology applications in the tourism industry in Asia, more research attempts like this book need to be made, aiming towards exploring diverse aspects. As tourism is an expanding area, this book can serve as a reading companion for tourism students, policy planners and industry.

professionals This book is expected to be appreciated by expatriate researchers and researchers having a keen interest in the Asian tourism industry Intellectual Property, Competition Law and Economics in Asia R Ian McEwin, 2011-10-07

This book results from a conference held in Singapore in September 2009 that brought together distinguished lawyers and economists to examine the differences and similarities in the intersection between intellectual property and competition laws in Asia The prime focus was how best to balance these laws to improve economic welfare Countries in Asia have different levels of development and experience with intellectual property and competition laws Japan has the longest experience and now vigorously enforces both competition and intellectual property laws Most other countries in Asia have only recently introduced intellectual property laws due to the Trade Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights TRIPS Agreement and competition laws sometimes due to the World Bank International Monetary Fund or free trade agreements It would be naive to think that laws even if similar on the surface have the same goals or can be enforced similarly Countries have differing degrees of acceptance of these laws different economic circumstances and differing legal and political institutions To set the scene Judge Doug Ginsburg Greg Sidak David Teece and Bill Kovacic look at the intersection of intellectual property and competition laws in the United States Next are country chapters on Asia each jointly authored by a lawyer and an economist The country chapters outline the institutional background to the intersection in each country discuss the policy underpinnings theoretically as well as describing actual policy initiatives analyse the case law in the area and make policy prescriptions The Digital Economy and Competition Law in Asia Steven Van Uytsel, 2021-05-06

The digital economy broadly defined as the economy operating on the basis of interconnectivity between people and businesses has gradually spread over the world Although a global phenomenon the digital economy plays out in local economic political and regulatory contexts The problems thus created by the digital economy may be approached differently depending on the context This edited collection brings together leading scholars based in Asia to detail how their respective jurisdictions respond to the competition law problems evolving out of the deployment of the digital economy This book is timely because it will show to what extent new competition law regimes or those with a history of lax enforcement can respond to these new developments in the economy Academics in law and business strategies with an interest in competition law both in Asia and more broadly will find the insights in this edited collection invaluable Further this volume will be a key resource for scholars practitioners and students
