No fan of Dean Koontz or of classic psychological suspense will want to miss this extraordinary novel of the human mind's capacity to torment—and destroy—itsself.

Martie Rhodes is a young wife, a successful video game designer, and a compassionate woman who takes her agoraphobic friend, Susan, to therapy sessions. Susan is so afraid of leaving her apartment that even these trips to the doctor's office become ordeals for both women, but with each trip a deeper emotional bond forms between them.

Then one morning Martie experiences a sudden and inexplicable fear of her own, a fleeting but disquieting terror of . . . her own shadow. The episode is over so quickly it leaves her shaken but amused. The amusement is short-lived. For as she is about to check her make-up, she realizes that she is terrified to look in the mirror and confront the reflection of her own face.

As the episodes of this traumatic condition—autophobia—build, the lives of Martie and her husband, Dustin, change drastically. Dustin takes Martie to the therapist who has been treating Susan and tries to reconstruct the events of recent months in a frantic search for clues. As he comes closer to the shocking truth, Dusty finds himself afflicted with a condition even more bizarre and fearsome than Martie's.

DEAN KOONTZ, the author of many #1 New York Times bestsellers, lives in southern California.

STEPHEN LANG'S theater work includes roles on Broadway in Hamlet and A Few Good Men. He has also appeared in the films Another You, Last Exit to Brooklyn, and on television in the miniseries The Killer Angels.

False Memory is also available in a Random House Large Print edition and in hardcover from Bantam Books.
