The Great Animal Orchestra Bernie Krause, 2012-03-19 A passionate amalgam of science and autobiography that will leave you hearing and seeing nature as never before New York Times Book Review Musician and naturalist Bernie Krause is one of the world's leading experts in natural sound and he's spent his life discovering and recording nature's rich chorus Searching far beyond our modern world's honking horns and buzzing machinery he has sought out the truly wild places that remain where natural soundscapes exist virtually unchanged from when the earliest humans first inhabited the earth Krause shares fascinating insight into how deeply animals rely on their aural habitat to survive and the damaging effects of extraneous noise on the delicate balance between predator and prey But natural soundscapes aren't vital only to the animal kingdom Krause explores how the myriad voices and rhythms of the natural world formed a basis from which our own musical expression emerged From snapping shrimp popping viruses and the songs of humpback whales whose voices if unimpeded could circle the earth in hours to cracking glaciers bubbling streams and the roar of intense storms from melody singing birds to the organlike drone of wind blowing over reeds the sounds Krause has experienced and describes are like no others And from recording jaguars at night in the Amazon rain forest to encountering mountain gorillas in Africa's Virunga Mountains Krause offers an intense and intensely personal narrative of the planet's deep and connected natural sounds and rhythm The Great Animal Orchestra is the story of one man's pursuit of natural music in its purest form and an impassioned case for the conservation of one of our most overlooked natural resources the music of the wild English for Everyone

Nightingales in Berlin David Rothenberg, 2019-05-09 A celebrated figure in myth song and story the nightingale has captivated the imagination for millennia its complex song evoking a prism of human emotions from melancholy to joy from the fear of death to the immortality of art But have you ever listened closely to a nightingale's song It's a strange and unsettling sort of composition an eclectic assortment of chirps whirs trills clicks whistles twitters and gurgles At times it is mellifluous at others downright guttural It is a rhythmic assault always eluding capture What happens if you decide to join in As philosopher and musician David Rothenberg shows in this searching and personal new book the nightingale's song is so peculiar in part because it reflects our own cacophony back at us As vocal learners nightingales acquire their music through the world around them singing amidst the sounds of humanity in all its contradictions of noise and beauty hard machinery and soft melody Rather than try to capture a sound not made for us to understand Rothenberg seeks these musical creatures out clarinet in tow and makes a new sound with them He takes us to the urban landscape of Berlin longtime home to nightingale colonies where the birds sing ever louder in order to be heard and invites us to listen in on their remarkable collaboration as birds and instruments riff off of each other's sounds Through dialogue travel records sonograms tours of Berlin's city parks and musings on the place animal music occupies in our collective imagination Rothenberg takes us on a quest for a new sonic alchemy a music impossible for any one species to make alone In the tradition of The Hidden Life of Trees and The Invention of Nature Rothenberg has written a provocative and accessible book to attune us ever closer to the natural environment around us

Semiotics of Animals in Culture Gianfranco Marrone, Dario Mangano, 2018-02-28 To place animals within the realm of nature means inserting them among the articulations of culture and the social Semiotics has never avoided this chiasmus choosing to deal from the outset with the problem of the languages of animals following the old admonition of Montaigne it is not that animals do not talk it is us who do not understand them Recent research in the field of the anthropology of nature and sociology of sciences and techniques allow to think about the Zoosemiotic issue in a different way Instead of transplanting the language structures gestures LIS etc for a semiotic study of the forms of the human and social meaning it seems more apt to look at their discourse and as such the actual interactions communicative and scientific as well as practical and functional between humans and non humans This book aims to investigate precisely this hypothesis known here as Zoosemiotics 2 0 working on several fronts and levels Anthropology Languages of the image and visual representations from art history to cinema Old and new media From literature to comics from cartoons to TV documentaries but also advertising music Web and social networks All those cultural products that talk about the role of human and non human in society implicitly proposing and in some way imposing a form of articulation of such a relationship Food and feeding rites Animalist vegetarian and vegan movements Philosophy metaphysics ethics aesthetics The Wasting of

Borneo Alex Shoumatoff, 2017-04-11 Acclaimed naturalist Alex Shoumatoff issues a worldwide call to protect the drastically endangered rainforests of Borneo In his eleventh book but his first in almost two decades seasoned travel writer Alex Shoumatoff takes readers on a journey from the woods of rural New York to the rain forests of the Amazon and Borneo documenting both the abundance of life and the threats to these vanishing Edens in a wide ranging narrative Alex and his best friend Davie spent their formative years in the forest of Bedford New York As adults they grew apart but bonded by the imaginary jungle of their childhood Alex and Davie reunited fifty years later for a trip to a real jungle in the heart of Borneo During the intervening years Alex had become an author and literary journalist traveling the world to bring to light places animals and indigenous cultures in peril The two reconnect and spend three weeks together on Borneo one of the most imperiled ecosystems on earth Insatiable demand for the palm oil ubiquitous in consumer goods is wiping out the world s most ancient and species rich rain forest home to the orangutan and countless other life forms including the Penan people with whom Alex and Davie camp The Penan have been living in Borneo s rain forest for millennia but 90 percent of the lowland rain forest has already been logged and burned to make way for vast oil palm plantations Among the most endangered tribal people on earth the Penan are fighting for their right to exist Shoumatoff condenses a lifetime of learning about what binds humans to animals nature and each other culminating in a celebration of the Penan and a call for Westerners to address the palm oil crisis and protect the biodiversity that sustains us all Natural History of Silence

Jérôme Sueur, 2024-11-05 In our busy noisy world we may find ourselves longing for silence But what is silence exactly Is it the total absence of sound Or is it the absence of the sound created by humans the kind of deep stillness you might experience in a remote mountain landscape covered in snow far away from the bustle of human life When we listen closely silence reveals a neglected reality Neither empty nor singular silence is instead plentiful and multiple In this book eco acoustic historian Jérôme Sueur allows us to discover a vast landscape of silences which trigger the full gamut of our emotions anxiety awe and peace He takes us from vistas resplendent with full and rich natural silences to the everyday silence of predators as they stalk their prey To explore silences in animal behaviour and ecology is to discover a counterpoint to the acoustic diversity of the natural world throwing into sharp relief the grating reverberations of the human activity which threatens it It is to attune ourselves to a world that our human insensitivities have closed off to us to take a moment simply to breathe and listen to the place of silence in nature

Sonic Intimacy Dominic Pettman, 2017-03-21 A perceptive engaging and clever set of meditations on how sound produces human technical and nonhuman intimacies Richard Grusin University of Wisconsin Milwaukee Sonic Intimacy asks us who or what deserves to have a voice beyond the human Arguing that our ears are far too narrowly attuned to our own species the book explores four different types of voices the cybernetic the gendered the creaturely and the ecological Through both a conceptual framework and a series of case studies Dominic Pettman tracks some of the ways in which these voices intersect and interact He demonstrates how intimacy is forged through the ear perhaps even more than through any other sense mode or medium The voice then is what creates intimacy both fleeting and lasting not only between people but also between animals machines and even natural elements those presumed not to have a voice in the first place Taken together the manifold material actual voices of the world whether primarily natural or technological are a complex cacophony that is desperately trying to tell us something about the rapidly failing health of the planet and its inhabitants As Pettman cautions we would do well to listen Pettman is a very engaging writer and the way he traverses contexts and theoretical horizons is thrilling Naomi Waltham Smith Boundary 2 With Sonic Intimacy we are manifestly in the hands of a skilled and not a little playful writer who connects new media to long developed philosophical conversations David Cecchetto York University
