undertakings visual and sonic that military forces from the Graeco Roman world presented on the battlefield before during or after battle The battle expression was sophisticated in nature it could include significant cultural song or dance that required high levels of rehearsal and execution Conversely battle expression types demonstrated spontaneous wit and humour on the part of a military force that aimed to capitalise on the experiences of a battle These performances served a variety of purposes outside of instilling group cohesion among the participants and to intimidate the onlooking enemy This book associates the psychological dimension of warfare religious identity and military strategy supported by the High Command to this practice In addition the author draws comparisons with later historical periods as well as the actions of modern day European football supporters in stadiums to reconstruct the atmosphere created by ancient military forces on the battlefield The War Cry in the Graeco Roman World is suitable for students and scholars of Classical Studies particularly those interested in ancient warfare and military history as well as those studying the history of warfare more broadly
