British Art Pottery 1870 194:

Arts and Crafts Movement in New Zealand, 1870-1940 Ann Calhoun, 2000 Reveals the exquisite work and extraordinary skill of a group of New Zealand artists most of them women working in a wide variety of art and craft forms This flowering of local talent originated in the British Arts and Crafts movement and is associated with the growth of art education in this country its quiet but dedicated character also suggests much about the situation of women in the years before and after 1900 Jacket

Ceramics in the Victorian Era Rachel Gotlieb, 2023-06-29 This book broadens the discussion of pottery and china in the Victorian era by situating them in the national imperial design reform and domestic debates between 1840 and 1890 Largely ignored in recent scholarship Ceramics in the Victorian Era Meanings and Metaphors in Painting and Literature argues that the signification of a pot a jug or a tableware pattern can be more fully discerned in written and painted representations Across five case studies the book explores a rhetoric and set of conventions that developed within the representation of ceramics emerging in the late 18th century and continuing in the Victorian period Each case study begins with a textual passage exemplifying the outlined theme and closes with an object analysis to demonstrate how the fusing of text image and object are critical to attaining the period eye in order to better understand the metaphorical meanings of ceramics Essential reading not only for ceramics scholars but also those of material culture the book mines the rich and diverse archive of Victorian painting and literature from the avant garde to the sentimental from the well known to the more obscure to shed light on the at once complex and simple implications of ceramics agencies at this time

Art Botany in British Design Reform, 1835-1865 Sarah Alford, 2024-11-14 Drawing on the fields of design history and the history of science this book examines the important role that botanical science played in the emergence of Victorian design theory In early 19th century Britain a rapid influx of plants from other countries began to confuse the orders of classification As these new specimens arrived in nurseries and conservatories botanists revised and promoted a new taxonomy the Natural System In parallel in 1835 British manufacturers faced a government inquiry in order to improve the output of the British design industry They needed a nationally identifiable design aesthetic and the inquiry led to the creation of the Government Schools of Design and the Design Reform movement This book explores how whilst botanists used drawings to clarify new systems of plant classification designers learnt art botany the practice of basing decorative form and ornament on the hidden natural laws that govern plant growth and structure Design reformers used botany as a model for how to create and identify what is new and incorporate it into what was already familiar and meaningful all within the purview of developing a professional field of practice Sarah Alford provides a rich interdisciplinary study of how the fields of design and botanical science came together

Through a framework of material culture Alford sheds new light on the work of leading botanists designers and illustrators such as Sarah Drake John Lindley Richard Redgrave Owen Jones and Christopher Dresser This book reveals how the designation of what design reformers deemed appropriate for the surface decoration of material structures as varied as carpets jugs wallpaper and furniture was an embrace of botanical science as a source of fantasy and imagination 20th Century Ceramic Designers in Britain Andrew Casey, 2001 The first publication to focus on individual designers in ceramics over the whole 20th century Covers all the major female designers with up to date findings Also some male designers previously almost undocumented 5000 Years of Tiles Hans Van Lemmen, 2013-10-22 A comprehensive full color exploration of tile art and production worldwide from earliest times to the present day The book is both an authoritative work of reference and a visual delight ranging from ancient Greece where the first fired roof tiles date from as early as the third millennium BC to twentieth century Mexico Along the way we encounter stunning examples of the tiler's art the enormous English medieval floor pavements from Byland Abbey and Clarendon Palace figural tiles from China intended to adorn roofs and ward off evil the famous Iznik tiles from the Islamic world with their richly decorative patterns the highly stylised ceramic tiles of the Arts and Crafts movement and the tiles created by some of the finest ceramic artists and potters of the twenty first century Placing the tiles firmly in their historical and cultural context the book highlights both continuity and diversity the dissemination of techniques and designs and how tile art in one time and place has inspired and rejuvenated those in others Tiles are also studied in terms of function as well as form and the full range of architectural and practical purposes for which they have been used from floors to roofs stoves to bathrooms cathedrals to metro stations will be explored along with the various techniques employed to create such versatile pieces 5000 Years of Tiles is the essential most comprehensive single volume for anyone interested in the ceramic decorative and architectural arts Catalog of the Avery Memorial Architectural Library of Columbia University. 2d Ed., Enl Avery Library, 1968 Contemporary British Art Arts Council of Great Britain, 1949 Bibliographic Guide to Art and Architecture New York Public Library.
