Michael Dintenfass

British Industrial Decline:

The British Industrial Decline Michael Dintenfass, Jean-Pierre Dormois, 2002-11-01 The decline of British Industry in the late Victorian and early Edwardian period is the subject of major concern to economic and modern British historians This book sets out the present state of the discussion and introduces new directions in which the debate about the British decline is now proceeding Among other themes the book examines the role of the service sector alongside manufacturing the distinctiveness of the British regions the state's role in the British decline including an analysis of its responsibility for the maintenance and modernization of infrastructure the association of aristocratic values with entrepreneurial vitality how British historians have discussed success and failure with a critique of the literature of decline The Decline of Industrial Britain Michael Dintenfass, 2006-02 The first synthesis of Britain's long term economic performance in more than a decade this book examines why British economic growth has failed to keep pace with the performance of the other advanced industrial economies since 1870 Reversing Industrial Decline Paul Q. Hirst, 1989 This book offers new and radical views on British industrial decline and policies to remedy it The British Industrial Decline Michael Dintenfass, Jean-Pierre Dormois, 2002-11 This book sets out the present state of the discussion of the decline in British industry and introduces new directions in which the debate is now proceeding The Decline of British Industry: Its Cause and Remedy Fedor Aronovich Rotshtein, 1903 British Industrial Capitalism Since The Industrial Revolution Roger Lloyd-Jones, Merv Lewis, 2014-05-22 The authors use a long wave framework to examine the historical evolution of British industrial capitalism since the late 18th century and present a challenging and distinctive economic history of modern and contemporary Britain The book is intended for undergraduate courses on the economic history of modern Britain within history economic and social history economic history and economic degree schemes and economic theory courses Science, Technology, and the British Industrial "decline", 1870-1970 David Edgerton, 1996 Sources and Debates in Modern British History Ellis Wasson, 2012-01-04 Designed to complement the author's A History of Modern Britain this collection of primary sources illuminates and augments the study of modern Britain with coverage of political imperial and economic history as well as class and cultural issues Features a broad range of documents in a well structured and easy to use format including important well known documents and lesser known excerpts from memoirs and private correspondence Provides up to date balanced coverage of political imperial social economic and cultural history with over 180 documents Offers a thorough rendering of social class and national identity including coverage of changes in British society over the last 20 years Includes discussion questions for each document as well as lists of historical debates and extensive bibliographies of both on line and traditional sources for students further research Alfred Herbert Ltd and the British Machine Tool Industry, 1887-1983 Roger Lloyd-Jones, M.J. Lewis, 2017-09-29 At the beginning of the twentieth century Britain was amongst the world leaders in the production of machine tools yet by the 1980s the industry was in terminal decline Focusing on the example of Britain's largest machine tool maker Alfred Herbert Ltd of Coventry this study charts the wider fortunes of this vital part of the manufacturing sector Taking a chronological approach the book explores how during the late nineteenth century the industry developed a reputation for excellence throughout the world before the challenges of two world wars necessitated drastic changes and reorganisations Despite meeting these challenges and emerging with confidence into the post war market place the British machine tool industry never regained its pre eminent position and increasingly lost ground to foreign competition By using the example of Alfred Herbert Ltd to illuminate the broader economic and business history of the British machine tool industry this study not only provides a valuable insight into British manufacturing but also contributes to the ongoing debates surrounding Britain's alleged decline as a manufacturing nation Bengal Industries and the British Industrial Revolution (1757-1857) Indrajit Ray, 2011-08-09 This book seeks to enlighten two grey areas of industrial historiography Although Bengal industries were globally dominant on the eve of the industrial revolution no detailed literature is available about their later course of development A series of questions are involved in it Did those industries decline during the spells of British industrial revolution If yes what were their reasons If not the general curiosity is On which merits could those industries survive against the odds of the technological revolution A thorough discussion on these issues also clears up another area of dispute relating to the occurrence of deindustrialization in Bengal and the validity of two competing hypotheses on it viz i the mainstream hypothesis of market failures and ii the neo marxian hypothesis of imperialistic state interventions
