British Television Advertising Cultural Identity And Communication:

British Television Advertising Renée Dickason, 2000 Since television in the UK began advertisements have come to be acceptable to the viewer and to be considered by some as a bastion of Britishness in a world of increasing media globalization This study examines the question of television advertising as an expression of cultural identity

Transformation and Tradition in 1960s British Cinema Farmer Richard Farmer, 2019-05-03 Over half a century on the 1960s continue to generate strong intellectual and emotional responses both positive and negative and this is no less true in the arena of film Making substantial use of new and underexplored archive resources that provide a wealth of information and insight on the period in question this book offers a fresh perspective on the major resurgence of creativity and international appeal experienced by British cinema in that dramatic decade Transformation and Tradition in 1960s British Cinema is the first scholarly volume on this period of British cinema for more than twenty five years It provides a major reconsideration of the period by focusing on the central tensions and contradiction between novelty revolution and continuity tradition during what remains a highly contentious period of cultural production and consumption Social Communication in Advertising William Leiss, Stephen Kline, Sut Jhally, Jackie Botterill, 2013-05-13 Now available in a significantly updated third edition to address new issues such as the Internet and globalization Social Communication in Advertising remains the most comprehensive historical study of advertising and its function within contemporary society It traces advertising's influence within three key social domains the new commodities industry popular culture and the mass media that manages the constellation of images that unifies all three The third edition includes discussion of new technologies and issues from the Internet to globalization updated and expanded examples and illustrations revisions throughout to address recent developments in advertising scholarship and the latest trends in advertising practice Experimental British television

Laura Mulvey, Jamie Sexton, 2015-07-01 Throughout its history British television has found a place if only in its margins for programmes that consciously worked to expand the boundaries of television aesthetics Even in the present climate of increased academic interest in television history its experimental tradition has generally either been approached generically or been lost within the assumption that television is simply a mass medium Available for the first time in paperback

Experimental British television uncovers the history of experimental television bringing back forgotten programmes in addition to looking at relatively more privileged artists or programme strands from fresh perspectives The book therefore goes against the grain of dominant television studies which tends to place the medium within the flow of the everyday in order to scrutinise those productions that attempted to make more serious interventions within the medium Advertising and the Transformation of Screen Cultures Bo Florin, Patrick Vonderau, Yvonne Zimmermann, 2025-10-01 Advertising has played a central role in shaping the history of modern media While often identified with American consumerism and the rise of the Information Society motion picture advertising has been part of European visual culture since the late nineteenth century With the global spread of ad agencies moving image advertisements became a privileged cultural form to make people experience the qualities and uses of branded commodities to articulate visions of a good life and to incite social relationships Abandoning a conventional delineation of fields by medium country or period this book suggests a lateral view It charts the audiovisual history of advertising by focussing on objects products and services screens exhibition programming physical media practices production marketing and intermediaries ad agencies In this way the book develops new historical methodological and theoretical perspectives

The English Countryside David Haigron, 2017-08-09 This collection of essays examines representations of the English countryside and its mutations and what they reveal about a nation's communities or individuals search for identity and fear of losing it Based on a pluridisciplinary approach and a variety of media this book challenges the view that the English countryside is an apolitical space characterised by permanence and lack of conflict It analyses how the pastoral motif is actually subverted to explore liminal spaces and temporalities The authors deconstruct the rural idyll myth to show how it plays a distinctive and yet ambiguous part in defining Englishness Britishness A must read for both scholars and students interested in British rural and cultural history media and literature

Promotional Culture and Convergence Helen Powell, 2013-04-17 The rapid growth of promotional material through the internet social media and entertainment culture has created consumers who are seeking out their own information to guide their purchasing decisions Promotional Culture and Convergence analyses the environments necessary for creating a culture of collaboration with consumers and critically engages with key areas of contemporary promotional development including promotional culture's primary industries including advertising marketing PR and branding and how are they informed by changes in consumer behaviour and market conditions how industries are adapting in the digital age to attract both audiences and advertising revenue the evolving dialogues between new consumers and producers and promotional industries Ten contributions from leading theorists on contemporary promotional culture presents an indispensable guide to this creative and dynamic field and include detailed historical analysis in depth case studies and global examples of promotion through TV magazines newspapers and cinema

War Memories Stéphanie A.H. Bélanger, Renée Dickason, 2017-05-31 War Memories explores the patchwork formed by collective memory public remembrance private recollection and the ways in which they form a complex composition of observations initiatives and experiences Offering an international perspective on war commemoration contributors consider the process of assembling historical facts and subjective experiences to show how these points of view diverge according to various social cultural political and historical perspectives Encompassing the representations of wars in the English speaking world over the last hundred years this collection presents an extensive yet integrated reflection on various types of commemoration and interpretations of events Essays respond to common questions regarding war memory how and why do we remember war What does commemoration tell us about the actors in wars How does commemoration reflect contemporary society's culture of war War Memories disseminates current knowledge on the performance interpretation and rewriting of facts and events during and after wars while focusing on how patriotic fervour resistance conscientious objection injury trauma and propaganda contribute to the shaping of individual and collective memory Contributors include Joan Beaumont Australian National University Canberra Gilles Chamerois University of Brest France Subarno Chattarji University of Delhi India Nicole Cloarec Rennes 1 University France Corinne David Ives European University of Brittany Rennes 2 France Jeffrey Demsky San Bernardino Valley College California Sam Edwards Manchester Metropolitan University Georges Fournier Jean Moulin University France Annie Gagiano University of Stellenbosch South Africa David Haigron Rennes 2 University France Judith Keene University of Sydney Australia Melissa King San Bernardino Valley College California Christine Knauer Eberhard Karls University Tübingen Germany Liliane Louvel University of Poitiers Michelle P Moore Canadian Army Doctrine and Training Centre Kingston Ontario John Mullen University of Rouen France Lorie Anne Duech Rainville Caen University France Elizabeth Rechniewski Australian Research Council Discovery Project Raphaël Ricaud University Paris Ouest Nanterre La Défense France Laura Robinson Royal Military College of Canada and Isabelle Roblin Université du Littoral Côte d'Opale France

Food Marketing and Selling Healthy Lifestyles with Science Lauren Alex O'Hagan, Göran Eriksson, 2024-09-17 This book sets out to historicise our understanding of contemporary trends by studying the long relationship between science food and drink marketing and the promotion of healthy lifestyles It aims to bring together contemporary and historical research from a multimodal perspective considering how scientific discourse and ideas about health and nutrition are channelled through visual and material culture Using examples of advertisements commercials and posters the 16 chapters in this book will foster a cross disciplinary and cross temporal dialogue uncovering links between past and present ways that manufacturers have capitalised upon scientific innovations to create new products or rebrand existing products and employed science to make claims about health and nutrition They will thus demonstrate the continuity of science in food and drink marketing even if fundamental ideas of nutrition have evolved over time The book provides crucial new insights into the significance of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries as a period of innovation in food and drink marketing and showcasing how many of the marketing strategies employed today in fact have a far broader historical trajectory It will be of great interest to students and scholars of Critical Food Studies Media and Communication Studies History of Science and Medicine and Cultural Studies as well as nutritionists dieticians sportspeople in addition to policymakers and practitioners working in the area of food and drink marketing
