British Television Peter Graham Scott, 2000 Peter Graham Scott joined BBC TV in 1952 as a young producer trainee Since then he has been part of every major development in the television medium including the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II the birth and growth of commercial TV special broadcasts for schools the second BBC channel the well timed introduction of color in time for live shots from the moon the utterly different Channel Four and Channel Five During the early years of his career Scott directed over 40 original live dramas in addition to episodes of Danger Man The Prisoner and The Avengers Scott s career reflects the rapid development of British television over four decades He tells his story with insight wit and thorough technical knowledge Along the way he shares anecdotes about stars and their humble beginnings Judi Dench Glenda Jackson Patrick McGeehan Diana Rigg Michael Gambon and Jane Seymour as well as tales of encounters with such talents as John Gielgud Anthony Hopkins Peter Sellers Donald Pleasence Dylan Thomas and Brendan Behan The author concludes his memoir with some perceptive thoughts on world television s past and future

The Battle of Britain on Screen S. P. MacKenzie, 2016-01-28 This new updated edition of The Battle of Britain on Screen examines in depth the origins development and reception of the major dramatic screen representations of The Few in the Battle of Britain produced over the past 75 years Paul MacKenzie explores both continuity and change in the presentation of a wartime event that acquired and retains near mythical dimensions in popular consciousness and has been represented many times in feature films and television dramas Alongside relevant technical developments the book also examines the social cultural and political changes occurring in the second half of the 20th century and first decade of current century that helped shape how the battle came to be framed dramatically This edition contains a new chapter looking at the portrayal of the Battle of Britain at the time of its 70th anniversary Through its perceptive demonstration of how our memory of the battle has been constantly reshaped through film and television The Battle of Britain on Screen provides students of the Second World War 20th century Britain and film history with a thorough and complex understanding of an iconic historical event

Four from the forties Brian McFarlane, 2018-09-14 The Gainsborough melodramas were a mainstay of 1940s British cinema and helped make the careers of such stars as Margaret Lockwood James Mason and Stewart Granger But what was unique about these films And who were the directors behind them This book presents four key filmmakers each with his own talents and specialities It traces their professional lives through the highs of the 1940s when the popularity of Gainsborough films was at its peak to the tougher decades that followed the genre s decline Featuring expert analysis of such films as The Man in Grey 1943 Madonna of the Seven Moons 1945 and The Upright Circle 1947 alongside valuable historical context the book constitutes the first extended examination of this group of directors It combines critical acumen with readability making it a valuable resource for students lecturers and general readers alike

Great War on the Small Screen Emma Hanna, 2009-10-20 In Britain since the 1960s television has been the most influential medium of popular culture Television is also the site where the Western Front of popular culture clashes with the Western Front of history This book examines the ways in which those involved in the production of historical documentaries for this most influential media have struggled to communicate the stories of the First World War to British audiences Documents in the BBC Written Archives Centre at Caversham Berkshire the Imperial War Museum and the Liddell Hart Centre for Military Archives all inform the analysis Interviews and correspondence with television producers scriptwriters and production crew as well as two First World War veterans who appeared in several recent documentaries provide new insights for the reader Emma Hanna takes the reader behind the scenes of the making of the most influential documentaries from the landmark epic series The Great War BBC

1964 up to more recent controversial productions such as The Trench BBC 2002 and Not Forgotten The Men Who Wouldn't Fight BBC 2008 By examining the production broadcast and reception of a number of British television documentaries this book examines the difficult relationship between the war's history and its popular memory Saints and Avengers James Chapman, 2002-04-26 Eccentric ironic and fantastic series like The Avengers and Danger Man with their professional secret agents or The Saint and The Persuaders featuring flamboyant crime fighters still inspire mainstream and cult followings Saints and Avengers explores and celebrates this television genre for the first time Saints and Avengers uses case studies to look for example at the adventure series representations of national identity and the world of the sixties and seventies Chapman also proves his central thesis that this particular type of thriller was a historically and culturally defined generic type with enduring appeal as the current vogue for remaking them as big budget films attests Paving the Empire Road Darrell M. Newton, 2013-07-19 Beginning in the 1930s and moving into the post millennium Newton provides a historical analysis of policies invoked and practices undertaken as the Service attempted to assist white Britons in understanding the impact of African Caribbeans and their assimilation into constructs of Britishness Management soon approved talks and scientific studies as a means of examining racial tensions as ITV challenged the discourses of British broadcasting Soon BBC2 began broadcasting and more issues of race appeared on the screens each reflecting sometimes comedic somewhat dystopic often problematic circumstances of integration In the years that followed however social tensions such as the Nottingham and Notting Hill riots led to transmissions that included a series of news specials on Britain's Colour Bar and docudramas such as A Man From the Sun that attempted to frame the immigrant experience for British television audiences but from the African Caribbean point of view Subsequent chapters include an extensive analysis of television programming along with personal interviews Topics include current representations of race the future of British television and its impact upon multiethnic audiences Also detailed are the efforts of black Britons working within the British media as employees of the BBC writers producers and actors Directors in British and Irish Cinema Robert Murphy, 2019-07-25 A guide to directors who have worked in the British and Irish film industries between 1895 and 2005 Each of its 980 entries on individuals directors gives a resume of the director's career evaluates their achievements and provides a complete filmography It is useful for those interested in film making in Britain and Ireland
