SUBMISSION GUIDELINES FOR THE WEEKLY INTELLIGENCE BRIEF

1. Submissions will be 125-250 words in total length, including submission heading. Special exceptions may be made to this range with permission.
2. Each submission will include: (a) a heading stating the basic who, what, where of the event; (b) a one- or two-sentence summary of the event; (c) four single sentence bullet points on details that reference sources; and (d) one or two sentences with final thoughts and/or predictions about the future direction of the event or situation, or to tie up loose ends of the story.
3. Submissions will be submitted to Heads of Desks by the end of each Wednesday's CIB meeting (7:00 p.m.), but they can also be submitted to them earlier in the week, via email. Submissions may be typed or electronic, but preferably typed. No handwritten submissions, although handwritten edits on typed submissions are permitted.
4. Submissions will be free of grammatical errors and be scholarly in nature. Try to efficiently put together a non-biased briefing on your topic. Do not make your briefing wordy, be economical and get to the point. Consider using multiple reliable sources as this will be published on a public information source endorsed by the Chanticleer Intelligence Brief.
5. Below is an example of an article written for the Weekly Intelligence Brief that complies with the submission guidelines proved here.

DR CONGO FORCES KILL 39 BURUNDI REFUGEES

Name of Analyst, Head, Africa Desk | September 16, 2017

Troops in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC) opened fire on refugees protesting the detainment of four or their fellow refugees. Troops had tried to disperse the refugees by "firing in the air but were overwhelmed" when the group responded by throwing stones in Friday's confrontation at the National Intelligence Agency in the capital Kinshasa.

The four refugees were detained for possessing weapons on September 12, the Congolese government reports.

Al Jazeera reports that 114 more people were injured and one Congolese soldier was killed in the clashes. But the government reports that five soldiers were killed.

More than 400,000 refugees have fled the DRC's neighbor Burundi since violence erupted there in April 2015, according to The Citizen.

The United Nations (UN) estimates that the DRC is temporary home to more than 43,700 refugees.

The DRC government said it has opened an official investigation into the incident. The UN is urging the government to ensure the protection of refugees.

The Weekly Intelligence Brief is a publication of the Chanticleer Intelligence Brief (CIB), a student-run initiative supported by the Department of Politics at Coastal Carolina University. It operates as an ancillary practicum for students in the Intelligence and National Security Studies program who wish to cultivate and refine their ability to gather, analyze and present information in accordance with techniques used in the intelligence profession

Building Procurement Roy Morledge,Adrian J. Smith,Samuel Y. Appiah,2021-04-12 As an industrial process construction is unique The procurement processes used to achieve the successful completion of built assets requires a different approach to that adopted in most other industries due to the design of buildings being bespoke and the sites being geographically varied The procurement process is central to the success of any construction project and many of the problems which impact construction projects can be traced back to the procurement phase so a good understanding of the methods of procurement the development of a procurement strategy and the influence it has on project success is essential for all those working in the industry Much has changed in the global construction industry since publication of the second edition of Building Procurement for example the increase in debt burden of many major economies widespread adoption of Building Information Modelling BIM Technology in the industry and the United Kingdom s exit from the European Union This new edition has been rewritten to take account of these significant developments but at its core it continues to provide a critical examination and review of current procurement practices in the UK continental Europe including EU procurement procedures China Middle East and Sub Saharan Africa and the USA It retains its original strong emphasis on the need for clients to establish achievable objectives which reflect the project business case and focuses on development of suitable strategies and management structures to meet those objectives in the current construction climate Building Procurement will be essential reading for senior undergraduate and postgraduate students of construction management and practitioners working in all areas of construction management management of all building projects has become increasingly important as clients in the public and private sector demand the highest quality cost planning services with accurate budgeting and cost control. All members of the design team must integrate their activities to ensure that a high quality project is delivered on time and within budget. This book considers building cost planning and cost control from the client and the design team's perspective where all decisions whether concerned with design cost quality time value or sustainability are taken as being interrelated. The latest Royal Institute of British Architects RIBA Plan of Work and the New Rules of Measurement for Early Stage Estimating and Cost Planning issued by the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors RICS have been incorporated into this new text. The book follows the building design cost planning process from the crucial inception stages and then through all the design stages to the completion of the technical design contract documentation and the tender. It provides a template for good cost planning practice. An essential addition to this third edition is the introduction of integrated design and documentation processes captured in building Information modelling BIM on line cost databases and computerised methods of cost planning. The integrated approaches are explained and provide vital information and knowledge for practitioners involved in building projects. All stakeholders involved in development and design and client teams in public and private sector policy making and implementation need to understand the new approaches to design management processes and how cost planning and design approaches are adapting to using the new technology in practice. The interactive style using in text and review questions makes this ideal for students and practitioners alike in property architecture construction economics construction management real estate engineering facilities management and project management.

Best Value in Construction John Kelly, Roy Morledge, Sara J. Wilkinson, 2009-02-12. Achieving value in construction is now emerging as the main challenge facing the construction team if they are to offer the best service for the client. No longer is the aim simply to keep costs under control. This book from the RICS Foundation analyses how to provide best value by the effective application of leading edge techniques and processes throughout the entire life cycle of buildings from the business case which underpins their initiation to the achievement of a satisfactory project outcome. This book is a successor to Quantity Surveying Techniques New Directions edited by Peter Brandon and published on behalf of the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors by Blackwell. It will be of interest not only to surveyors and construction managers but also to final year undergraduates of construction degrees. This book will make a major contribution to the advancement of the methods by which construction professionals provide a service to their clients. Professor Peter Brandon.
