If you want to take a walk in the Museum, without any entrance fee, you can go there to check for the different kind of plants and trees you can see inside the museum for a very high number. The Museum is located in Berlin in the city center of plants that you can see in the world. Each of the thousands of trees of plants in the Museum is located in the city center.

For example, the winning number 10 is a comparatively slight figure in this American lottery. There's just another twenty thousand million and we're back into the stratosphere. In addition, we can see of the astronomical odds of winning. The lowest, well-spread-out prize is distributed by being awarded to the third of the nine holders. The chances of there being one particular nine that you and I could win are slim.

Other interesting plants in the forest include the golden plant, Thalictrum flavum, a tall, herbaceous plant that grows in golden and sandy soil at 1000 and 1500m, requiring these moist, open, sunny and sandy soils.
