British Forces In North America 1793-1815:

British Flag Officers in the French Wars, 1793-1815 John Morrow, 2018-02-22 During the French wars 1793 1801 1803 1815 the system of promotion to flag rank in the Royal Navy produced a cadre of admirals numbering more than two hundred at its peak These officers competed vigorously for a limited number of appointments at sea and for the high honours and significant financial rewards open to successful naval commanders When on active service admirals faced formidable challenges arising from the Navy's critical role in a global conflict from the extraordinary scope of their responsibilities and from intense political public and professional expectations While a great deal has been written about admirals' roles in naval operations other aspects of their professional lives have not been explored systematically British Flag Officers in the French Wars 1793 1815 considers the professional lives of well known and more obscure admirals vice admirals and rear admirals It examines the demands of naval command flag officers' understanding of their authority and their approach to exercising it their ambitions and failures their professional interactions and their lives afloat and onshore In exploring these themes it draws on a wide range of correspondence and other primary source material By taking a broad thematic approach this book provides a multi faceted account of admirals' professional lives that extends beyond the insights that are found in biographical studies of individual flag officers As such it will be of great interest to students and scholars of British naval history noted Readers with military ancestors will no doubt find much of interest within and the author hopes that the work will allow readers to break down a few brick walls either through connecting to the officers recorded or through an understanding of the movements of the regiments around the world or from the volunteering patterns of the militia regiments into the regular army Encyclopedic in scope and aimed to be a lasting source of reference material for the British army that fought the French Revolution and Napoleon between 1793 and 1815 King George's Army British Regiments and the Men who Led Them will be a necessary addition to every military and family history library for years to come Queen Victoria's Colonial Troops, 1837-1901 Gabriele Esposito, 2025-11-30 Queen Victoria famously presided over an empire upon which the sun never set Extending defending and policing Britain's global territories required the British Army to fight a bewildering array of foes in equally varied terrain and climates From the subarctic mountains of Canada to the Sahara Desert and the South African veldt from the jungles of West Africa and central India to China the British forces flew the flag The task was only made possible by the recruitment of troops from throughout the colonies some of which then served far from home such as the Australians used in the Boer Wars Colonial troops not only boosted the numbers available to the Empire's forces but their local knowledge of climate and terrain as well as their differing fighting styles offered vital variety and flexibility This allowed the British armies to adapt to the wide range of enemies and environments encountered Gabriele Esposito offers an excellent overview of the troops raised from every corner of the British Empire discussing their organization weapons uniform and equipment as well as how and where they were employed The informative text is lavishly illustrated with colour artworks The British Navy's Victualling Board, 1793-1815 Janet W. Macdonald, 2010 During the French Revolutionary and Napoleonic Wars the Royal Navy increased its manpower from less than 20 000 to over 147 000 men with a concomitant increase in the quantities of food and drink required to sustain them The organisation responsible for this the Victualling Board performed its tasks using techniques and systems which it had developed over the previous 110 years In terms of actually delivering supplies to warships troopships and army garrisons abroad the Victualling Board performed well given the constraints of long distance communications and intermittent difficulties in obtaining supplies However its other areas of responsibility showed poor performance as evidenced by the reports of several Parliamentary enquiries This book examines in detail the processes by which the Victualling Board performed its core and non core tasks identifying the areas of competence and incompetence and establishing the underlying causes of the incompetencies The British Armed Nation, 1793-1815 J. E. Cookson, 1997 Looking at the impact of the French Revolutionary and Napoleonic Wars on the British Isles Cookson sheds light on the nature of the British state and the extent of its dependence on society's self organising powers Sustaining the Fleet, 1793-1815 Roger Knight, Martin Howard Wilcox, 2010 An assessment of the work of the contractors who were commissioned by the Victualling Board to provision the fleet in this period Provisioning the fleet and the army overseas during the French Wars of 1793-1815 was a major undertaking This book explains how the Victualling Board in London handled this enormous task focusing in particular on contractors that is the merchants and brokers who provided a vast range of commodities including flour and biscuit salt beef and pork as well as huge quantities of fresh water and coal and every other item needed It shows how these merchants could be large or small concerns and provides detailed case studies of different kinds of contractors including examples of contractors based both in Britain and in the navy's overseas bases The book demonstrates how overall the contracting system represented the mobilisation of a substantial part of the British economy for war how the performance of contracting was effective with little or no corruption and how the contractors took considerable financial risks and made only reasonable margins It assesses the performance of the Victualling Board arguing that this was good and that the problem in the major area of weakness accounting was quickly addressed following a major crisis in 1808-09 It concludes that this was an impressive performance by the state but that the overwhelming advantage was the resilience of the market and that it was upon the success of the contractors that the war at sea was won For most of his career ROGER KNIGHT was on the staff of the National Maritime Museum leaving as Deputy Director in 2000 Since then he has taught at the Greenwich Maritime Institute at the University of Greenwich where he is currently Visiting Professor of Naval History MARTIN WILCOX completed a doctorate in maritime history at the University of Hull and has been employed as postdoctoral research fellow at Greenwich Maritime Institute since 2006
